FISTS WINN BACK WIFE.

Leo M. Bach, a Seattle, Washington, clothier, won his wife from the affluence for whom she had left her home by simply thrashing the man soundly in the woman's presence, in Portland, Ore., yesterday. The couple started home last night.

Julius Frohman, a professor of Hebrew in a Seattle institution of learning, was the third person in the case, and besides being soundly beaten, he passed a night in jail.

The encounter followed Bach's arrival in the city from Seattle Tuesday night. It took place at the Mathieson Hotel, where Bach found his wife and Frohman together. After the assault Bach hurriedly left the hotel and sought police headquarters, where he presented a warrant making serious charges against his wife and Frohman.

Frohman was taken to headquarters and after liniments and salves had been applied to his bumps and cuts, he was assigned to a cell. Frohman then demanded the arrest of his assailant.

As Bach was being searched his pretty young wife appeared. She pleaded for his release, which Police Captain Bailey granted by admitting him to bail.

At the suggestion of the officer the estranged couple kissed and made up, and before a dozen of the attaches at headquarters, declared they would start life anew.

Freeman was released today, Bach having concluded not to prosecute him.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

CZAR AND CZARINA ROBUST.

Emperor Nicholas and Empress Alexandra, who arrived at Friedberg, Hesse, Tuesday, appeared in excellent health yesterday. The empress, who has long been described as being in ill health and went there to take the curative waters, her cheeks are full and have much color. Her majesty talks with animation.

The emperor appears to be growing stouter. He strolled about the castle grounds yesterday, wearing a sack suit of tweed and a derby hat, with his hands thrust into his trousers pockets.

While the police precautions are strict, they are not overdone, and quite 1,000 townspeople were admitted to the railway station when the imperial party arrived. One hundred and ninety-two soldiers are on guard duty at the castle, and 34 sentries are posted in the neighborhood. All arrivals at the resort are compelled to an examination of their baggage.

The castle is crowded, its 140 rooms being hardly sufficient to accommodate the royal visitors and their followers.

E. H. Leache, of Waco, Texas, has purchased from Mrs. James P. Jeffries the handsome farm on Bethel road, near Warrenton, the price being between $30,000 and $40,000. Mr. and Mrs. Leache will make their home there.

WHOLESALE EVICTIONS.

In that great human being lying south of Canal street and east of the Bowers in New York 10,000 notices of impending evictions have been served on tenant families. They are being ordered out of these tenement rooms now at the rate of several hundred a day for non-payment of rent, and they are appearing before Justice Snitkin, in the Second District Municipal Court, sad-eyed, hungry and tremblingly asking, men and women alike, for mercy. They are pleading for themselves because they are ill and out of work because of the strikes of the garment workers.

Justice Snitkin had to tell a woman that she must vacate the rooms she occupied with her seven children. She stood dazed for a moment and then looked about her as if for an angel of mercy. There was none. The courtroom in Madison street was crowded with men and women in the same plight. A court officer took her gently by the arm to lead her away. There were still scores of cases to be tried. Again she looked appealingly at Justice Snitkin.

"You must go," he said softly.

From under a faded shawl she drew a long, sinuous, naked arm. She pointed to the street and to the storm.

"You must go," a court officer repeated.

"Where?" she asked. There was no answer. She went away and her woe was lost in the next story related to the court.

About every fourth person who had been ordered out of the house by the landlord was a woman, and most of them were widows with young children. One woman said she had nine little ones at home and that she tried to keep them together by keeping boarders. Another woman had three children, and two of them were crippled.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

HIGH PRICE FOR LUNCH.

Food which would ordinarily cost a white man a quarter was quoted as being worth $3 yesterday by Samuel Tomlinello, manager of the Di Paula luncheon in Baltimore, when Charles W. Mossell, a negro from Prince George's county, Md., insisted that he wanted to eat in the place. He finally landed in a cell at the Central Police Station, charged with failure to pay the money.

Mossell, after being told that a cup of coffee, bread, butter and a deviled crab would cost him $3, is said to have given in his order. He changed his mind, it was testified after he drank the cup of coffee and declared he would pay only the ordinary price—that which a white man would have to pay for the same food.

"I told him that the crab, coffee and other food he ordered would cost him $3," said Mr. Tomlinello. "The customer told me to go ahead and bring it on. I am hungry." After he had been served he asked us whether we were really going to charge him $3. We told him we certainly were. He drank the coffee and offered us 10 cents for it. We demanded the $3. He started to leave, but I then called Patrolman Blake. I ordered his arrest and I want to prosecute the case."

"A man can charge whatever he pleases for his foodstuff or any other article he sells," said Justice Grannan. "These witnesses say you bought the food, knowing it would cost you $3. Therefore, I will have to hold you on the charge against you."

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gently stimulate the liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system, cure constipation and sick headache. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Jesse T. Benney, aged 65, who died at his home in Norfolk Wednesday night following a brief illness, leaves an estate of about $400,000 to institutions which he established. They are the Benney Home for Girls and Industrial and manual training school and home which he erected recently in the Ghent section for the exclusive benefit of Virginia girls who are unable to secure the advantages of a free school education. The widow's dower, which is one-third of the whole estate for life, goes to the home after her death.

FIFTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD NURSE.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for fifty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures diarrhoea, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Twenty-five cents a bottle.
